O.F.J. SUIT FILED POLITICAL BLACKMAIL

A Civil Rights Suit has been filed in the United States District Court of Northern California by the Officers for Justice, the N.A.A.C.P., the League of United Latin American Citizens, the Chinese for Affirmative Action and the National Organization of Women.

This alleged "Civil Rights" Suit was filed at the last minute to halt the forthcoming Captain's Examination, freeze all existing Civil Service eligibility lists and to provide a quota system for all entry and promotional lists.

The San Francisco Police Officers Association has entered into a Suit with the City Attorney to stop these political machinations from destroying the Civil Service Merit System. Spokesman for the Association, President Crowley, stated that,

"If the Association does not fight this political blackmail on the part of the plaintiffs it would mean that the leadership of the San Francisco Police Officers Association have abandoned the very principles on which this Association stands. It has further implications to all Police Departments in the State of California as it strikes at the very heart of Police Professionalism."

The Association views this action as part of a plan designed to affect Reorganization and to strike down the protection guaranteed by the Charter. Experiences of other large cities have shown that compromises have been made and resistance has been slight to these incursions into the Civil Service entrance and promotional processes.

The Association believes that a positive approach based upon upgrading, rather than lowering standards should be the argument presented to the Federal Courts. They believe that the traditional arguments used throughout the United States have been negative in character and have implied concessions built into them.

The traditional arguments advanced by cities in defense of their existing Civil Service Systems have portrayed Policemen as a narrowly defined technician. This approach hardly justifies their defense of high quality standards.

The majority of Police Officers within the Association are extremely upset by this further attack upon their rights and feel that discrimination in the Police Department has been eradicated. They have vowed to resist this attempt to further demean the integrity of their profession and their rights guaranteed under a non-political examination process. Association spokesmen state that they will allow no compromise simply to allay fears of racism.

The Civil Rights Suit brought against the San Francisco Police Department promises to be a long and bitter battle.

Because of the broad spectrum of this attack by the politically controlled Officers for Justice, numerous Police Officers in the Department are concerned over what adverse effect this suit will have on their careers.

Depending on how the Federal Court views this all encompassing suit, will determine the numbers of Policemen effected.

It is possible that the Captain's Examination would be postponed, the Sergeant's, Lieutenant's and Assistant Inspector's Lists of eligible could be frozen until a solution, approved by the Court were adopted. In addition, as is the case back east, during the period all promotions were frozen, the time limit for depletion of those lists would still be in effect, resulting in many Policemen not getting appointed!

Taking the OFJ Suit in its entirety, it could be projected that any minorities currently positioned on a promotional list would be moved up in a one-for-one position with a caucasian member. Once the list exhausted all minority members, it would cease to exist.

Other aspects of the suit call for a minority enrollment into the Department of two minorities for each white. This coupled with their promotional demands could, according to interpretation by the court, result in having a minority member enter the Department and immediately be placed on a promotional list.

The suit also covers Departmental Reorganization by demanding 25% minorities be appointed in the top administrative positions, positions possibly effected, under the Reorganization proposal would be all Deputy Chiefs (Supervising Captain, Directors, etc.) and Heads of Divisions.

The chances of these demands being granted in Federal Court is anybody's guess. The Federal Court is practically unlimited in its power to compel its will. Undoubtedly, we can look forward to a long and costly battle with the possibility of concessions and compromises taking place. The resolve that the membership of this Association takes will play an important part in dealing with "Back Door Deals" that may arise.

The leadership of the Association is determined not to give up the professional standards that we have all worked so long and so hard to establish. With a strong and united membership supporting them, it is foreseeable that this latest political threat will be defeated.

Retired Chief Seeks Supervisors Spot

This fall, our first "Favorite Son Candidate" will be in the race for the Board of Supervisors.

Alfred Nelder, retired Chief of Police is running for one of the spots on the City's Board of Supervisors and indications are he will be a strong candidate.

Retired Chief of Police
Alfred J. Nelder

The one stumbling block, an old city ruling prohibiting retired city employees from receiving two salaries, has been struck down through appeal by the City Attorney's office.

Ex-Chief Nelder, known during his tenure as a "Policeman's Chief", was responsible for the beginning of the Department's modernization. Under his leadership, emphasis was placed in up-grading our equipment, vehicles, and greater concentration was placed on the Uniformed Forces and the job of the street policeman. It is remembered that Chief Nelder's resignation came as a shock to the whole community and smacked of political "interference" by Mayor Alioto.

It is expected that the San Francisco Police Officers Association will do what it can to help one of its members get elected.

O.F.J. DEMANDS

The Officers-For Justice have asked the Federal Court to declare:

- Police Department Entrance and Promotional examinations are in violation of the 14th Amendment (Equal protection clause).
- The present Lieutenant's list of eligibles be divided into two lists, one for minorities and one for Caucasians. (All appointments are to be made on a ratio of one to one.)
- The present Sergeant's list of eligibles be divided into two lists, one for minorities and one for Caucasians.
- The present Assistant Inspector's list of eligibles be divided into two lists, one for minorities and one for Caucasians.
- When there are no minority candidates remaining on the Lieutenant's, Sergeant's and Assistant Inspector's lists of eligibles, no further appointments will be made. (All other candidates will die on their respective lists.)
- In future promotions, one minority member be appointed for each Caucasian member appointed.
- Establish an entry quota into the Police Department of two minorities for each Caucasian accepted.
- That the Department devise a system of appointing women to the Department in the same percentage as are available in the work force. (In San Francisco it would mean 40%.) Any reorganization program will include 25% minorities in top administrative positions.

The suit also asks the Court to grant any other relief it deems proper.

BUDGET CUTS HURT

The Police Department Annual Budget is currently undergoing its yearly trim session at City Hall. One of the first items to hit the Mayor's cutting room floor were the supervisory positions asked for by the Department.

Of the 3 Captains, 11 lieutenants and 17 Sergeants originally asked for, none remain. Patrolman's positions fared only slightly better. The Department asked for 66 patrolmen but will receive only 24. The Mayor did however, approve 16 parking controlmen and 20 civilians in C.W.B. This is evidently a move to increase the revenue generated through parking citations and warrants.

Other personnel surviving the slash were 28 civilian Station Officers, which were asked for to "release" more police for street duty.

What is unfortunate is that in the "civilianization" of the Department, certain fundamentals of professionalization seem to have gone by the boards. Where once we sought to better supervision through acquiring more sergeants, lieutenants and captains, we now seek only to become a money-making operation for the City, through writing parking tags and collecting warrants.

President's Corner

BY

JERRY CROWLEY

Political Extortion and Blackmail in the form of a last minute law-suit filed by the leadership of the Officers for Justice has reintroduced Race and Politics into the Police Department. Over the past five years this Association has fought to end political patronage as a criteria for advancement within the Police Department. This Association has fought for and won the battle to provide equal opportunity for all Policemen through a strict competitive civil service merit system. This long bitter battle culminated in the creation and adoption of the first Equal Opportunity Charter change, Prop. E. I will not allow anybody Black or White to surrender these rights and reinject political patronage into our recruitment and promotional process.

This fight to provide equal opportunity for all Policemen, both Black and White has left bitter memories and a residue of hatred that has been hard to erase. In my heart I know this battle was necessary and right. I also know that no Police Department can function efficiently nor any Police Officers Association retain its integrity if they allow the intolerable human condition of discrimination to exist in the Police Department.

The fight to provide equal opportunity for all Policemen both black and white was initiated by some of the same men that now occupy positions on existing promotional lists and who are also studying for the forthcoming Captain's exam. The right to fair and equal treatment was initiated by members who have had similar experiences to the Officers for Justice - by these same members who had for too long been subjected to, yoked under and humiliated by the political patronage system. It was initiated by those members representing approximately 90% of all San Francisco Police Officers who could no longer live with such blatant discrimination.

These members had confidently expected that the OFJ's would join in this assault which had also yoked and humiliated minority members of this department. But surprisingly the leadership of OFJ's stood back. They did not want to attack Political Patronage. It is now quite clear why they did not join that attack. It's quite clear that the plaintiffs and the leadership of this group are in complete agreement with the political patronage concept and wish to continue its slowly ebbing life.

The OFJ leadership has blatantly attempted to make this a Black against White issue. They have injected the spectre of racism to cover their political aims. I have fought too long and hard for equal opportunity and brotherhood within this Police Department to accept the label of racism simply because I reject their illogical attempts to seek political preference. I can not allow this spurious legal maneuver to ruin all that our Organization has fought for.

I will not accept quotas rather than Qualification.

I will not accept politics rather than Performance.

I will not accept Preference rather than merit.

I certainly will not accept this return to racism to be used as a coverup and a substitute for the lack of dedication, determination and self-sacrifice on the part of a small group of minority Policemen.

"GIGI" TICKETS NOW ON SALE

The Civic Light Opera Box Office is now open for ticket sales for the San Francisco premiere of Lerner & Loewe's "Gigi," which opens the CLO's 36th Annual Season at the Curran Theater on May 15 for a 7-week engagement.

This Broadway-bound CLO musical stars Alfred Drake, Agnes Moorehead, Maria Karnilova, Daniel Massey and introduces Terese Stevens in the title role.

Handsomely mounted, the production has been designed by Oliver Smith (costumes) and Oliver Messel (sets). Direction is by Joseph Hardy. Expected to attend the premiere will be both Alan Jay Lerner and Frederick Loewe who have collaborated on this adaptation of their movie of the same name which introduced such unforgettable songs as "The Night They Invented Champagne," "Thank Heaven for Little Girls" and the title song. This is their first collaboration since their highly successful musicals "My Fair Lady" and "Camelot."

In talking to some of the Association members, I find that a great number of you do not know what the I.C.P.A. is. In future articles I shall endeavor to give in detail just what the I.C.P.A. really is all about. For now though, I will just say that the I.C.P.A. stands for International Conference of Police Associations. It is, or will be our International Union in the same way as the AFL-CIO, United Mine Workers, Teamsters etc. This article is just to bring you up to date on current events of the I.C.P.A.

I attended a Vice-President's meeting on the I.C.P.A. April 8th - 10th, held in Washington, D.C. The President's report started the first day of the meeting. He has been doing a lot of traveling to various Associations in the past few months giving aid and advice and recruiting new member Associations into the I.C.P.A. Perhaps, the most important thing he has been doing is testifying before various local, state and federal committees on matters concerning Policemen. For example, on January 30th he testified before the Seattle, Washington City Council on the Policemen's Bill of Rights and the forced polygraph tests for Policemen. The Bill of Rights is similar to our own which is part of our memorandum. The polygraph tests were compulsory for all Policemen whenever they were under investigation for any reason. Well, I am happy to say that the Washington State Legislature passed an amendment overturning the polygraph tests and passed a Policemen's Bill of Rights.

The Legislative committee reported on the following bills. Senate Bill #33 provides for a death benefit payment ($50,000.00) for dependants of all public safety officers. This bill passed the full Senate and is now in the House Judiciary Committee. Senate Bill #15 provides for a group life insurance policy for all public safety officers. It also passed the full Senate and is now in the House Judiciary Committee. House Bill #4757 defines the 40 hour work week and guarantees 1 1/2 times for all over 40 hours. It is still in the House Judiciary Committee.

There are five Congressmen from California on the House Judiciary Committee and your Local I.C.P.A. Committee is writing to each one urging their support for these Bills both in committee and on the full floor of the House. Other member Associations are doing the same thing. It was also decided at the meeting to start work on legislation that will give all public safety officers compulsory binding arbitration. Since it is unconstitutional by federal statute for us to strike, then by Federal statute we should have some alternative.

One of the highlights of the first day was the luncheon with the Secretary of Labor Peter Brennan. He made it plain and convincingly that he considered Policemen and Firemen as much as part of the labor force in this Country as any other group of working people. He further stated that he agrees that we should unionize nationally, within ourselves, and that the I.C.P.A. will be it. Incidentally, some of us here have been advocating the same thing and we can eventually see this become a reality. He guaranteed the full support of his office and position to our cause.

The Publication Committee is coming out with a new offer for the I.C.P.A. Magazine, "The Policeman." I will have more about this later. The I.C.P.A. is also coming out with a pictorial book titled, "My Daddy is a Policeman," which will sell for one dollar a copy. They are being printed by the Prentice Hall Company. The I.C.P.A. will get 51c a copy and Prentice Hall 49c. The proceeds will go into a fund to aid dependants of slain Policemen. All of the major chain super markets across the country have already agreed to handle the books free of charge. I will have more on this later.

The President will speak at the National Convention of Federal Investigators later this month. They include the F.B.I., U.S. Marshals, Narcotic Agents and all other Federal Investigative agents. They are very interested in joining the I.C.P.A.

This report is shorter than I had intended it to be and done completely from memory. The reason being is that my notebook with my notes and all my pamphlets was RIPPED - OFF. If anyone finds it please return same to the office.

To: All Brothers Of The San Francisco Police Officer's Association

I would like to extend thanks to all brother members, who contributed toward the fine assessed against me by the court, in favor of the Hallians.

I also wish to thank the many retired brothers, citizens and fellow officers who sent in checks and letters in my name.

Through your combined effort, you have shown that we stand together. This type of court action will not be the last. It is only the first of many. We will have to work as a strong team to combat this action in the future.

There are many who do not use the powers of our association. This must change. We must be united for our representatives to be able to do their job.

CITY PAYROLL PRACTICES

OVERTIME CHECKS LATE AGAIN - WHY???

Once again our overtime checks have fallen far behind. We're all very much aware of the problem. The question is, WHY? The current situation is the result of several factors. Let's take a general view of the procedure and identify the problems.

First you work extra and submit a card for overtime. (Straight time, not time and one half like everybody else out there in the real world.) The card then goes to the Police Department's Personnel Bureau where it's entered into various records. Next, Personnel prepares an overtime roll for the pay period involved and sends it to the Controller's Office for processing. Brother Rudy Milon and his crew are normally very prompt about this. I checked. The Controller's Office is even fairly efficient about it if they don't have any unusual problems. I've been told that once the Controller's Office receives the complete rolls, they get the checks out in about 10 days.

So, why are the checks over 2 months late? Well, there are many reasons. The most important is that the Controller can only issue checks if there is money available in the Police Department overtime account. Right now there isn't. In fact, it seems to me that the overtime account runs out about three quarters of the way through the Fiscal Year, every year!

Again the question, WHY? The answer to that is easy. The Department seems to be afraid to ask for enough money to cover overtime. Either they don't know how to use the data available to prepare a reasonable budget, or they underestimate intentionally. After the already understated budget is submitted, City Hall publically gets into the act by cutting a little off the top. (They are very economy minded, you know.) The obvious result is, we end up with an overtime account that in no way will cover expected costs.

Now what happens? We do get paid eventually, don't we? A supplemental budget is what happens and that's how we get paid eventually.

A supplemental budget is what the Department submits to get money to cover expenditures not in the original budget. It's submitted later in the year, after the general City Budget has been publicized to inform the taxpayers and other members of the community what's being done with the money. (This might be a clue to the problem.)

Somewhere along about February or March it happens. Just what everybody knew would happen. There's no overtime money left and overtime IS DUE the troops. I don't know who discovers this fact every year, or even if it's the same person, but now the wheels begin to turn. Planning and Research prepares a supplemental budget request. Don't ask how long it takes them, because I wouldn't even guess.

The supplemental budget must then be approved by the Police Commission. Hopefully at their next meeting. Who knows? I see a potential here for a week or two slipping by between preparation of the supplemental and commission approval.

Next, to City Hall and approval by a committee or two and a couple of readings to the full Board. This all takes place when they meet and they sure don't meet every day. Let's also face the fact that overtime for the cops is not very exciting to anybody but the cops. There are other things more important to consider and discuss. Like, statues and fountains or giveaway programs or BART or just which street to dig up next. Would you believe, another couple of three weeks (or more) shot? I would.

Now to the Mayor for signing and then a transfer of funds and the Controller goes to work again to get your check to you.

Why is overtime more than two months behind? I know. If you didn't, I hope you do now. There are a lot of titles you could use to identify this mess. I think I'll just leave it at that for now. A MESS!

THE WIVES CORNER

The San Francisco Police Officers' Wives Auxiliary hosted the 17th Semi-Annual Peace Officers Wives Clubs Affiliated (POWCA) Convention at the Sir Francis Drake Hotel April 25 through April 27. The San Francisco Wives thoroughly enjoyed hosting the 160 delegates at this election convention, which for the first time was held in San Francisco.

We wish to thank Chief Donald Scott for giving the welcoming address at the Opening Session Thursday, April 26. His speech was warmly received by the delegates. Chief Scott and his wife also attended the Scholarship Banquet dinner Thursday evening.

The $500 POWCA Scholarship was presented to Sheryl L. Laughlin from Placentia, Calif. She was sponsored by the Orange Police Wives. Sheryl is a senior at Orange High School and plans to attend college in the fall to work towards receiving her teaching credentials in Physical Education. Her father, Robert Laughlin, is a Detective with the Orange Police Department.

Final plans for the public relations campaign, "What If You Called A Cop And Nobody Answered", were discussed. The J. Walter Thompson Co., of San Francisco, has agreed to handle the campaign. The public relations campaign is now slated to be statewide and the first phase, two television commercials, are scheduled to be aired on local television by June of this year. This campaign is to renew the respect due the Peace Officer. POWCA is still raising funds to put the other phases of the campaign into production.

The conventioners were very impressed with our "City by the Bay". A good time was had by all. Special activities were also on the agenda along with convention business. These included a tour of the Hall of Justice and golfing at Harding Park, for the husbands who accompanied their wives. Friday evening the delegates were taken on a Night Club Tour which included Finnchios and the Red Garter.

The S.F. Police Officers' Wives give thanks to the San Francisco Police Officers Association for their donation, co-operation and support throughout this convention. We could not have had such a success without their help.

The members of the Police Officers' Wives Auxiliary also wish to give special thanks to Carol Gerrans, Vickie Carlson and Joanne McEachern who gave so much of their time and energy to coordinate this convention. We would also like to thank those girls who worked as hostesses: Gene Bywater, Eileen Donaldson, Pam Manwiller, Norma Simmons, Linda Thiffault, Kathy Travis and Barbara Yeagain.

We hope to see all of you at the next meeting Tuesday, May 8, 1973 at the Old Central Station, 2475 Greenwich

St. Remember this is the election for new officers, so come and cast your ballot.

I am sure you are by now aware of the suit filed by the Officers for Justice which seeks to ban the up-coming Captain's examination, nullify all other tests and existing lists of eligibles and overturns all standing Departmental appointments. While I admire the audacity of this move by the O.F.J.'s, (they aren't just taking on prospective Captains, they're taking on everyone) also, I must confess, I cannot believe their intention to be all that honorable.

You see, if you have followed the activities of this frustrated clique, you'll find that they have yet to do anything in the nature of being constructive. They do, of course, operate very well in the destructive field though.

Take, for example, Proposition "J" two years past. Proposition "J" was a Police/Fire measure setting up the Board of Supervisors as bargaining agents to grant benefits such as time and a half, night differential, longevity pay, vacation allowances, etc., etc. Now, this measure would have benefited every policeman in San Francisco, but our radical O.F.J.'s didn't see it that way. For some unknown reason, they felt they were discriminated against, (lovely work, discrimination) and became quite vocal in opposing Proposition "J".

Well, with a little help from the O.F.J.'s, our ballot proposition went down the tubes. I am sure that what helped their misguided group to go against this department-wide measure was that they knew the Association would become the bargaining agents for benefits, and being politically minded, the O.F.J.'s couldn't allow that.

They also did their damndest to defeat Proposition "E", but got their you know what caught in the wringer over that one. You see, the Black leaders in San Francisco heartily approved the merits of reorganization, and didn't take kindly to the interference by the O.F.J.'s.

The next time we heard from this cozy crew was their so-called "Program" for reorganization. This tidy little document called for the abolishment of Civil Service altogether. Among other things they desired to elevate a few of their chosen comrades to exalted positions, with rather attractive salaries naturally, and allow anyone to take any examination for any higher position he pleased without benefit of experience or qualifications.

Now, these individuals who profess to speak for all minority, police officers and even policewomen are again entering the political arena. If the truth be known, I doubt if you could find a dozen people who wish their kind of representation.

It is certainly strange that having known of a pending department examination for the rank of Captain six months ago, this suit wasn't filed until the eleventh hour.

It is also interesting to note that the O.F.J.'s suit included policewomen. Of course, this couldn't be a move to become the champions of women's lib, could it?

Another note of interest is that each of the five officers filing, (what! they could only find five who feel discriminated, against?) have had several opportunities to take promotive examinations, but never have.

Incidentally, the O.F.J.'s suit is being handled by attorneys from an organization funded by the Ford Foundation.

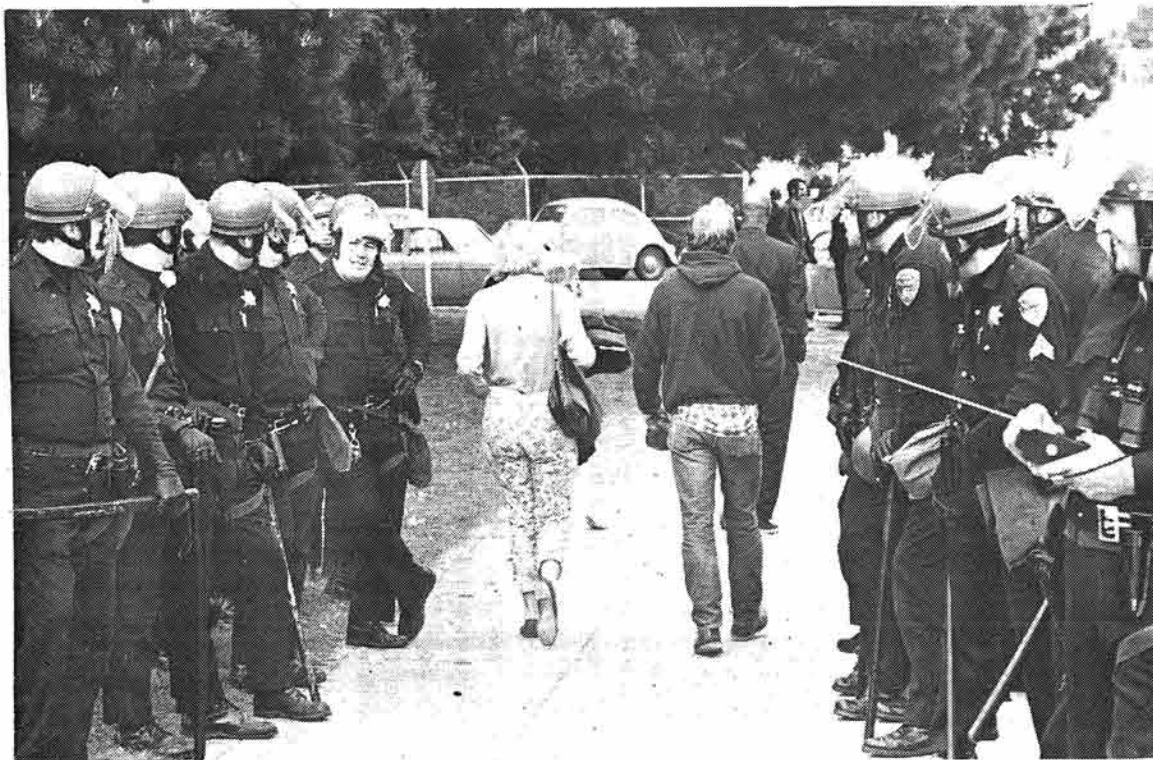

What the O.F.J.'s intends to gain from the latest insanity can only be guessed. I imagine in their little minds they see themselves as the saviors of the Black Policemen. What I doubt is if any of our Black Policemen wished to be "saved" and from what!

By tearing down our Civil Service structure they, no doubt, hope to fill the ranks of this department with blacks, whether qualified, or not. At least then, they could claim a legitimate membership.

Meanwhile, hiding behind the overly used excuse of "discrimination" the O.F.J.'s will go on its merry way, tearing down, setting brother against brother and generally making a nuisance of themselves, until all members of this department white, black, brown, what-have-you decide to stand up and uncover this group for what it is: a handful of political opportunists seeking to further their own interests regardless of who gets hurt in the process.

NEGOTIATIONS ON MEMORANDUM BEGIN AGAIN

After twelve months of negotiating had failed to produce a new Memorandum of Understanding between the Police Commission and the Association, an agreement was signed on February 28, 1973 to extend the current Memorandum until the new one has been ratified by the Association membership. However, in no case was this extension contract to continue beyond February 28, 1974.

At the time this extension agreement was executed both the Commission and the Association orally agreed that it was the intent of both parties that negotiations on the new Memorandum be rapidly concluded and that the agreement be executed forthwith.

On April 25, 1973 the Commission delivered to the Association its proposed Memorandum of Understanding. So negotiations will again begin. In opening the thirteenth month of negotiations, the Labor Relations Committee (Crowley, Hemby, Hebel, Chignell, Patterson and Calabro) expects both to discuss the Commission's proposal and to place its own proposal on the bargaining table.

STATE LIFE INSURANCE PROPOSED

Senate Democratic Leader George Moscone has introduced legislation that would provide substantial life insurance coverage for all peace officers and firemen in California.

"In the increasing number of cases where an officer is killed we find his family is forced to rely on the charity and goodwill of friends and concerned citizens," stated Senator Moscone.

"What I propose is a combination of state and local funding to include all personnel who protect our lives and property in group life insurance plans, ranging in benefits from $10,000 to $30,000.

It is estimated that almost 80,000 persons would be covered under the Moscone legislation, including 50,000 employed as peace officers and almost 30,000 as firemen.

Senator Moscone has earned a reputation working in the Legislature and as a Supervisor in San Francisco for better salaries and working conditions for those public employees in the fields of law enforcement and fire protection.

"The State would pay two-thirds of the cost of this insurance, local agencies would contribute the remainder. By purchasing life insurance policies for entire groups, a great savings could be effected," added Senator Moscone.

"But beyond that, state and local assistance for peace officers would be an added incentive for those who have chosen this career to remain in it. An overall effect of attracting people with higher qualifications would also result.

"I believe governmentally paid life insurance is precious little that the people of this State can offer persons who have chosen careers that put them 'on the line' every day. Because of the hazards they face, people in law enforcement often find life insurance hard to purchase, more expensive than for the ordinary citizen, or somewhat restricted in its coverage," continued Senator Moscone.

"If the people of this State wish to take some affirmative action to meet the very real problems faced every day by peace officers in this State they can respond with support of this legislation.

"Already this year seven officers in California have been killed in the line of duty, compared with an average of eleven over each of the last few years. At times following their deaths, citizens and friends have tried to help with contributions to their widows and children. While that's a notable cause, the State, I believe, has an obligation to provide financial protection for the peace officers and firemen of this State.

The Moscone legislation would extend not only to all officers of police and sheriff's departments in California, but to California Highway Patrolmen, state correctional officers, state police, and firemen.

EVERYONE PAYS

Just how big is the shoplifting problem?

Last year shoplifters stole $3,000,000,000.00 worth of merchandise. That's like stealing about $20.00 from each American.

The FBI says shoplifting has tripled in the last ten years, and calls it "the fastest growing type of theft."

Each year there are more shoplifters - sometimes as many as one in every ten shoppers - and each year they get younger.

A survey of high schoolers showed almost half had stolen at least once, and six per cent had stolen as many as 100 times.

How much does shoplifting really cost?

Shoplifting costs stores and customers more than merchandise. There are increased costs for merchandise to cover losses, and extra costs for special architectural designs to thwart thieves, extra guards, detective squads, costly detection equipment, insurance, alarm systems and legal counsel.

What can I do to prevent shoplifting?

Tell your children that shoplifting is a crime and can result in a delinquency record.

Encourage them to resist "going along with the crowd" when the crowd seems to be going in the wrong direction.

Know how much spending money your children have, and be suspicious if it stretches further than it should.

Outlaw all clothes swapping unless both sets of parents know what's being exchanged.

If you discover a shoplifter in your family, discipline him fast. You may even want to take him back to the store to return the goods. Practice what you preach. Shoplifting costs you both too much.

By S. G. Yasinitzky
Mike Casey and Gene Cross of Mission-6 took a report of a burglary in a Mission Street book store early Easter Sunday morning. Some sinner, apparently bent on rebuilding his faith, had smashed the store's window and stolen several religious books. A square - apple citizen grumbled something about police brutality one recent morning when he saw George McDonald and Ed Lawson of Richmond - 2 each firmly pulling along a 12-year-old boy by his wrist, one of the children busily sucking on a lollipop. These two innocent-looking tads were arrested by the police after they had attacked a woman and her 10-year-old daughter at a school bus stop on Masonic Avenue. One boy grabbed the girl by her neck and drew his knife across her throat, while the second one shoved a knife at the mother and demanded all her money or they'd kill her girl. Luckily, George and Ed were there just in time to conclude matters in favor of the victims. Advice to the unsophisticated: don't judge your juveniles by their lollipops. A Chinese restaurant operator reported to Roger Maher and Joe Gordon of Richmond - 5 that someone had burglarized his restaurant below his private quarters. The victim said that he was awakened during the night by noises in his restaurant below, but was too frightened to do anything about it, and went back to sleep. Tom Smith of the Burglary Detail is now fearlessly investigating this sinister crime.

ON ROUTINE PATROL by S.G. Yasinitzky

Jay Parashis and Dave Brown of Ingleside - 27 called for immediate assistance when they encountered rape suspects coming out of a building. Jay was broadcasting: "We have two, no, three... four... no, five, no, six... seven... eight... no, nine suspects..." Four of these were subsequently convicted of the gang rape of a young girl.

Following the rash of incendiary fires in the Fillmore, several people there have approached policemen asking, "Did you catch that arsenic yet?"

Ah for the good old days. Rudy Nieto of the Missing Persons Detail, one of the unsung super-cops of this department, once some 18 years ago captured five burglars at 4 a.m. on his beat on Ocean Avenue. He made them all place their hands on their heads and marched the group several long blocks to Ingleside Station to the amazement of the station keeper. I wonder what it would take to bring in five burglars under similar circumstances nowadays.

During the Easter week end Dennis Kamlatos and Dave Zunardi of Mission - 7 took a report of a burglary on Chenery Street, where the thieves took not only the usual stereo, television, and watches, but also four Siamese kittens. Maybe the crooks mistook them for Easter bunnies in the dark. Meow!

A colleague who shall remain anonymous tells of an embarrassing experience suffered by him at one of the morning show - ups some years ago, when he saw a man charged with the burglary of a flat on Steiner Street being paraded on the stage. The day before, this colleague had been on the corner of Post and Steiner when this suspect came up, a mess of frozen fish in his hands, pleading that he was locked out of his house and the fish would spoil. Our colleague obligingly managed to let him in and the man showed him his photo on the mantel, proving that he truly belonged there. As it turned out, the man's ex-girl-friend was the only resident of that apartment. She returned and found him piling up her goodies, ready to leave her with an empty flat. Our colleague was long gone, of course. But it sure taught him not to trust strangers with fishy stories.

There is one thing that rubs me the wrong way every time I hear it. It is when our rights, our Constitutional rights as Americans, are labeled "Miranda" rights in honor of a convicted felon. Let's stop using names for the rights that belong to us all. Miranda, Escobedo, and all other similar tags, only immortalize criminals.

For almost a hundred years this department had been dominated by the Irish. World War II changed this and our ranks have been swollen with Italians, Slovenians, Germans, and Russians. However, beware of those Greeks. Instead of the watch reports listing numerous members named Murphy, Sullivan, and Conroy, the frequency of the name Coreris is not unnoticeable. First there is Inspector Gus M. Coreris in Homicide, then his son, Manuel G. Coreris at the Taraval Station, then younger brother Homer Coreris at the Headquarters Company, daughter Lucille Coreris, a stenographer in the Supervising Captain's Office, nephew Manuel J. Coreris at Ingleside Station, older brother Tony Coreris, a deputy sheriff, and I must mention my former partner, the late George Coreris, who suffered a fatal heart attack while chasing a burglar in the Hunters Point area. There is also a sister, Pearl Coreris Vlachon, who'd been employed as a secretary with the California Highway Patrol headquarters for seven years. And I won't even try to list all the in-laws... Anyone knowing the Corerises from the days of their childhood, when we played at Fifth Avenue and Balboa and were frequent recipients of treats from Gus's late mother who looked on all of us as if we were her own kids, are not surprised that the Coreris bunch grew up on the right side of the fence.

JACKSON JOHNSON is an 8 yr. old Navajo Indian, living with his parents in the area of Standing Rock Trading Post, Crown Point, New Mexico.

Although young Jackson is like many other Indian children his age, for you, as a member of the S.F.P.O.A., he holds a somewhat closer relationship.

You see, little Jackson Johnson is being sponsored by the Association through "Save The Children Federation." By "Sponsor" we mean that the Association, through our donations, helps to finance clothing and school supplies for the lad.

Jackson lives in an isolated area of the Navajo Indian Reservation in a one room stone building with his four brothers and three sisters. They do not enjoy all the modern conveniences you and I do because they have no electricity in the home, and water must be hauled in from wells.

Our sponsorship does not end with just donation. You can help to establish a friendly relationship with our lad by writing him to see how he is getting along.

So, make it a point to contact our newest addition to the Association. You can direct your correspondence to: Jackson Johnson c/o Parents Standing Rock Trading Post Crownpoint, New Mexico 97313

Also, if you would like to donate any clothing, he wears a size 9 shirt, size 8 pants and size 10 coat.

INTERNAL AFFAIRS AND YOU

By Paul Chignell

Police work is a profession which is certainly unique. Law enforcement officers are required to restrict the freedom of movement, arrest and detain individuals for a myriad of reasons.

Due to this fact, complaints and allegations ensue in direct proportion to the amount of work an officer performs. Cop-haters are the first to complain, knowing full well that the officer involved will be subjected to interrogation and inconvenience. The most abhorrent criminal will make wild, unsubstantiated allegations which are thoroughly investigated. Our Department's Internal Affairs Bureau even accepts and investigates anonymous complaints.

Besides the above situations, politics in its most overt form enters into Internal Affairs. As we all know, politics is the name of the game in our department. But, Internal Affairs seemingly goes out of its way to investigate a complaint against an officer when made by someone with political "juice". For example, a recent "Excessive Force" case was investigated to the tune of over one hundred witnesses because of political pull, and the young patrolman involved was put through uncalled for anguish.

If you value your career as a police officer, in whatever detail or rank you work, the following suggestions should be followed strictly when Internal Affairs calls for an interrogation:

1. Always bring a representative with you. On occasion an officer from LAB will call you one hour prior to the interrogation. If your representative is not available, do not go to the LAB until you have located the representative of your choice. Under the Memorandum of Understanding you have a reasonable period of time to contact your representative.

2. Never allow the interrogator(s) to turn off the tape and never allow more than two interrogators in the room. Don't answer any untaped questions.

3. Prior to any interrogation, ask for the nature of the investigation as well as names and addresses of all complainants.

4. If you feel a need for a rest period after twenty minutes of continuous questioning, take it. You are entitled to a rest period.

5. Never allow the interrogator(s) to threaten disciplinary action, transfer or utter obviously offensive language. If this occurs, immediately state your objection so that it may be preserved on tape.

6. If the interrogator, to your knowledge, has not interviewed or contemplated interviewing witnesses that you would like interviewed, furnish names of your witnesses.

Exercise the above rights guaranteed to you by the Memorandum of Understanding. They are minimal rights but may protect you one day from loss of pay or your job.

With only 2 games left to play this season, and for most teams one make up game, this continues to be a tough season for all clubs.

Each league, the Tuesday and the Saturday Leagues, are tight at this time. With ties for the lead, and any club able to take over the lead, I'm sure everyone playing in both leagues are beginning to get the butterflies in the stomach with each game. At this writing, these are the standings.

GOOD LUCK TO EVERYONE

TRACK:

With the Police Olympics sneaking up on us, it is too bad that we are not going to be able to have more men compete in the track and field events. We certainly must have more athletes in our department that competed in track and field in high school or college.

How about dusting off the old track shoes and helping us make a decent showing in Los Angeles in July. At this writing we don't have enough track men to make up one relay team. Sad, isn't it? Contact me if you want to compete.

The need for improving police dispatching and Information / Communications systems integration in the San Francisco Police Department has been recognized for some time. Project CABLE fulfills this need with a completely new Communication Control Center utilizing computer assisted Command and Control, and mobile digital communications terminals. The basic goal of the new system is a maximum 3 - minute response from call-for-service to an officer on scene. The new command and control system significantly augments the powerful existing communication capability. This communication capability includes 11 radio channels in the low-band, VHF, and UHF ranges for supporting normal mobile communications and the Police Instantaneous Communications (PIC) system of personal portable radios. The new communications system culminates in the marriage of the PIC and CABLE systems, to facilitate Department wide rapid handling of routine and emergency Field Checks by Patrol Officer.

The new Communication Control Center will provide handling for over 328,000 calls for service a year and includes new complaint consoles, dispatcher consoles, and a supervisor console. These consoles include significantly improved radio transmit/receive controls, and telephone answering equipment. Each console position is equipped with a CRT/keyboard terminal for use in computer-assisted dispatch. The command and control system is configured to allow easy fallback from

it. Any intelligence relating to the complaint such as danger potential at the location, wanted persons, or persons with criminal history, is automatically displayed to the dispatcher.

computer-assisted operation to manual operation in the event of computer outage.

Some of the functions and features of this computer assisted command and control system are:

Complaint entry - When a complaint or call for service is received by telephone or field unit it is entered at one of the complaint consoles by CRT/keyboard terminal. The computer system automatically validates the street address or commonplace name and informs the operator of locations outside of the city or erroneous entry. The complaint is then automatically routed to the appropriate dispatch console position based on location and priority. If necessary, the call will be stacked for delayed handling by a dispatcher.

Dispatching - The computer system automatically determines the primary unit and assisting units based on availability, estimated unit location, and other criteria. The dispatcher may either accept the computer recommended assignment or may override by designating another un-

Unit status change - The computer assisted command and control system maintains a continuous inventory of the availability and status of all units. Unit status changes may be entered either from dispatch console positions or directly via mobile digital terminal on units so equipped. Capability to add or remove units to the available resource pool is also provided.

Inquiry capability - Extensive inquiry capability is provided in the command and control system for dis-

ta for resource allocation and management analysis is automatically collected. Incident data collected can also provide the initial record for subsequent incident updating and reporting.

In addition to the new Communication Control Center, the overall Command and Control project encompasses the implementation of a limited number of mobile digital communication terminals. These terminals are installed in patrol cars between the driver and passenger and provide the field office with the ability to directly access the CABLE Field Support System for vehicle, name, article, and location information, without requiring voice communication. The mobile terminals are also used for entering status change information such as on-scene or cleared from scene. This status change information provides direct input to the Communication Center, and also provides the raw data for LEM-RAS and other management reporting.

In order to provide digital radio communication for the mobile terminals without interference to existing voice channels, Project CABLE installed a new digital radio channel including digital encoder/decoder, transmitter, receiver, and antenna. The initial implementation program installed mobile terminals in only a limited number of units, however, posiplaying the availability, status, and recent activity of all or designated units. Inquiry may also be made tive evaluation is expected to lead to force-wide implementation via the annual local budget process.

BARBECUE COOKING LEG OF LAMB

1/2 pound or 3/4 pound per serving.

EARLY PREPARATION

1. Put leg of lamb on spit rod. Be sure to balance meat in center of spit rod. Brush lamb with cooking oil and a pinch of salt and pepper.
2. Arrange the hot briquets to give medium heat for spit barbecuing. Best results for arranging briquets is to make two 12 to 15 mounds of briquets on each of the B.Q. Pit. To start charcoal fire squirt or spray fluid over briquets, then light with a match or electric starter. When will charcoal be ready for barbecuing? When Charcoal turns white or when you can hold your hand over charcoal and count 1, 2, 3 very slowly until you are forced to pull your hand away because of the heat.
3. Leg of Lamb - 4 to 8 lbs. Recommended heat of charcoal - medium.

Very Rare, 50-65 mins., 120-130 deg.
Rare, 1 hr.-1 1/4 hr., 130-135 deg.
Med. Rare, 1 1/4-1 1/2 hr., 135-145 deg.
Medium, 1 1/2-2 hrs., 145-155 deg.
Well done, 2 hr.-more, 155-180 deg.

Helpful Hints:

1. Some believe lamb is tenderer and more flavorful when cooked rare.
2. If meat browns too fast, cover with foil.
3. On a leg of lamb, cut three inches off on small end of leg, as this is only a small bone.
4. Hot fire - 325 or over, Med. 250 to 300, Slow 150 to 225 (check coals with meat thermometer)
5. Basting Sauce for lamb
1/2 cup catsup
1/4 cup wine vinegar
1 Can of 6 Oz. Tomato Paste
1 Teaspoon Liquid Smoke
1/2 Teaspoon salt
1 Finely mashed clove garlic or 1/2 teaspoon of garlic powder.
1 Cup dry white wine and mix, and baste lamb

Also for basting lamb, take 1/2 cup of mint jelly and put in sauce pan to melt. When you are ready, about the last 15 min., baste lamb with the mint jelly.

MENU

SALAD - Toss, Tomato and Lettuce

VEG. - Barbecue corn or potatoes in foil. Boiled rice with chopped green peppers.

MEAT - Gourmet lamb

BEVERAGE - White, Rose Wine

BREAD - Garlic or Corn Bread

Your Dental Proposal And P.S.O.

P.S.O., or Public Safety Officers services, Inc. came into being because of the need for improved insurance for "Public Safety Officers". The whole concept of P.S.O. is revolutionary in that it gives police and firemen a chance to derive benefits from their participation in P.S.O.

The whole intent of P.S.O. will be to let police and firemen and related agencies realize that an insurance company has been created to specialize in insurance lines particularly adapted to their many and varied needs.

P.S.O. will provide greater benefits for "Public Safety Officers" through reduction of premiums, more coverage, or a combination of both. Secondly, and of great importance is that P.S.O. will eventually be owned and controlled, in the majority, by "Public Safety Officers" through their associations, the fire unions.

The ownership of P.S.O. will create profits that will make each participating association and all associations collectively stronger. This strength can be used to create a financially sound association that can make practical plans for other more sophisticated services for all members.

The original funds for the capitalization of P.S.O. were provided by Old Republic Life Insurance Company, and the participating associations receive options to purchase the majority of the P.S.O. stock based on a formula that fairly recognizes each association's contribution to the overall profitability of P.S.O. The primary obligation to pay the policy benefits will be those of Old Republic; also, Old Republic will reinsure business written to P.S.O. but, nevertheless, at all times remains responsible for the full payment of claims.

We, at present, are insured by Old Republic in our group life policies, and our group disability policies. All this insurance, along with our present dental proposal, will be channeled through P.S.O. and as a result will enable us to build up a reserve which can be applied towards our option purchase agreement. ONLY through your participation in our dental proposal, our group life, our group disability will YOU make participation in P.S.O. a reality.

MUNI TRANSIT POLICE PROPOSED

In an attempt to cut down on the high rate of crime and vandalism occurring on Municipal Railway buses and streetcars, Supervisor Peter Tamaras has introduced the idea of a Transit Police. Jerry Crowley, in a letter to Supervisor Tamaras, asked that if such a Transit Police Force is contemplated, it be formulated as a part of the San Francisco Police Department. "Presently, the citizens of San Francisco are served by a professional (Police) Department. To create another force, in my estimation, would fractionalize law enforcement in this city. I would therefore strongly urge you to consider creating, within the Police Department, a Specialized Transit Unit which would be staffed by sworn personnel in the Department."

The Association request was followed up in an informal meeting with the Supervisor, wherein he agreed with the Association's position and promised to follow his legislation through adopting a Police Transit Unit idea.

Comments.....The play-off picture at this time is a complete mess. From the looks of the Tuesday Division the season might just as well begin next week. How can anyone explain what has occurred to date.

One of the best teams in either league is Taraval and they now find themselves practically eliminated from contention. The interest to date from all concerned has been overwhelming and this year's play-offs should be exceptional. Everything we do from here on in will be pointing directly at dumping the Fire Dept. in our 3rd Annual All-Star Game.

This week found Hqts, winning again but the scores are getting closer each week.

The Death Of A Policeman

There he lies in blue attire. Flanked by flowers - Some delivered, others sent by wire. While off to The side a widow mourns, as two young ones, scarcely, Five and six ponder; as best children can; just what Happened to that very special man.

A hush falls over the room as a gray haired priest Reverently kneels with rosary in hand. Trying in His own simple way to make known that Someone up Above truly cares and understands. Mother, wife and Brother tell their beads as tears stream down ruddy Checks of men in blue - who might themselves be lying In that coffin too.

It was quiet in that City By The Bay on the night the Officer made his way on the beat, doing that job so seldom understood by those who could and should. Now he lies there still and cold. Yet not without Honor and Respect from those buddies who must themselves Make their rounds before dawn breaks and another day Unfolds.

Move To Restrict High Court Judges

If State Assemblyman Floyd L. Wakefield has his way, State Supreme Court Judges and Appeal Judges will have to stand for election. Assemblyman Wakefield is backing a state-wide petition to change the California Constitution restricting Judges of the Supreme Court and Court of Appeal to serving six year terms instead of their present 12 year terms. The initiative will also force these Judges to stand for re-election where now voters can only decide "Shall he be retained".

Here is how the present law reads.

--Supreme Court and Court of Appeals Justices are appointed by the Governor for 12 years, or to fill out an unexpired term in case of a vacancy.

--The office of Supreme Court or Appellate judge subsequently does appear on the ballot but, by law, with no opponent.

--By law there cannot be an opponent on the ballot. In this manner, there is almost no chance that a judge can be unseated, since the only ballot choice is "Shall he be retained"? In the extremely remote chance a judge were unseated, the people do not get a chance to elect another to fill his place. The office would again be filled by appointment.

According to the Wakefield initiative, if a vacancy occurs on the court, the Governor will still make the appointment, the appointed judge serving until that term expires. Then that judge must stand for re-election in the regular way, with the public having the opportunity of a choice. The terms of all judges of these higher courts will be reduced to six years instead of twelve.

The San Francisco Police Officers Association has been given a number of these petitions. If you want to do something to change the court that threw out the Death Penalty and is making "laws" often not in accordance with the will of the people, now is your chance. Contact your representative for petitions, or call the Association at 861-5060 and we'll get you some. Be sure to follow the directions closely on the petitions, especially section #2 "Obtain signatures only in the County where you live."

THE SAN FRANCISCO POLICE

In 1861 the authorized strength of the San Francisco Police Department was 40 men. On March 23, 1872 the Board of Supervisors gave authorization to increase the department to four Captains and 150 men. By 1875 the Police Department was at full strength with one Chief, four Captains and 150 men (there were no lieutenants). The salary in 1876 was most likely adequate when compared with other city salaries. Most city employees made between $70 and $100 per month, with some making as little as $40 per month. The last pay increase for the men in the department in 1876 came during the Civil War. On April 4, 1863 the Board of Supervisors authorized to increase the salary of each member of the Police force by $25.00 per month. As a result the monthly pay for the men was: Chief-$333.00, Captain-$150.00, clerk to the Chief of Police-$150.00 and patrol-$125.00.

Within the patrol division there were various job classifications, some of which are still in usage today. Sergeants (4), Detective (6), Property Clerk, Prison Keeper, Harbor Police, Truant Officer, Bailiff, Hack Inspector, Clerk to the Chief of Police, Oakland Ferry, Pacific Mail Steamship Co's. Dock and three men on special duty.

Samuel C. Stevenson #148 was the oldest member on the department at 71 years. However, he had seniority on only two men; Stevenson's length of service--three months. 27 year old Joseph Melody #144 was the youngest man on the force. Only two other officers were in their twenties; most of other officers were in their thirties or forties.

As far as length of service goes, the department was quite young--only ten men had over ten years service; and out of this group only three men had over 15 years Service. Most senior man was Captain of Detectives--Isaiah W. Lees with 22 years of service. The most senior patrolman and 3rd most senior man was clerk to the Chief of Police Alfred Clarke #1 with 19 years of service.

The occupations that the men held prior to entering the department were many and varied, liquor dealer, seaman, mariner, ships' carpenter, rigger, glove cutter, hatter, saloon keeper, light house keeper, blacksmith, glass blower and steam boatman.

The department in 1876 gave a recap of the nationalities of the men, both foreign and native born. Twenty-seven years after the discovery of gold in California there were still no native Californians in the department. The country and state with the most representation was Ireland and New York.

The qualifications to become a police officer in 1876 were set forth in the 22 year old Consolidation Act of 1856. For all practical purposes entry qualifications were non-existent and appointment to the job was political.

Sec. 23: The Chief of Police, in conjunction with the President of the Board of Supervisors and the Police judge, the concurrence of two of them being necessary to a choice, and as many police officers, not exceeding 150 as the Board of Supervisors shall determine to be necessary.

Sec. 24: No person can be appointed Captain of Police or Police Officer, unless he be a citizen of the United States and of this State, a resident and qualified voter of the City and County; and, in case of each police officer, a resident of the district from which he is chosen; and also, before his appointment, shall produce to the said President of the Board of Supervisors, Chief of Police, and Police Judge, a certificate signed by at least 12 freeholders and qualified voters of said City and County who, in case of application for appointment of a police officer, must also be residents of the district from which he is to be appointed; stating that they have been personally and well acquainted with the applicant for one year or more, and that he is of good repute for honesty and sobriety, and they believe him to be, in all respects, competent and fit for the office.

Sec. 26: Duties: Police officers in subjection to the orders of the respective Captains, and all under the general direction of the Chief of Police, shall be prompt and vigilant in the detection of crime, the arrest of public offenders, the suppression of all riots, frays, duels and disturbance of the public peace, the removal of unlawful obstructions from the public streets, and the enforcement of the laws and regulations of the police.

The Chief of Police, along with other city administrators, had to submit an annual report to the Board of Supervisors for the fiscal year. The problems facing the San Francisco Police Department 97 years ago were almost the same ones facing the department today.

Chief Ellis, in his report to the city stated: "The efforts of the officers have been especially directed to the break-up of the gangs of young ruffians who have, from time to time, committed outrages on our citizens, and many offenders have been discovered and punished.

The greatest difficulty which the police experience, in these cases, is the unwillingness of spectators to testify to the facts. This unwillingness results from loss of time and business involved in attending court, and in some cases, from timidity. Neither of these excuses are good.

The State has the right to the time and knowledge of a witness, in aid of the administration of justice; and timid persons can feel assured that they shall enjoy complete protection, for this is one of the ends for which courts of justice are established. But the invalidity of these excuses does not help the officers to supply the evidence thus lost. The officers have been instructed to prosecute all known offenders, and by compulsory process, bring reluctant witnesses to court.

The police have been persistent and unremitting in their efforts to prevent and punish crime. That they have been successful is witnessed by the peace and order which has generally prevailed.

In order to improve the bearing and carriage of the officers when on duty, and to prepare them for being properly moved in case of riot or public disturbance, the force has been drilled in simple evolutions; they have also been instructed in the use of the police baton, which experience has shown to be a most effective weapon for the dispersion of mobs and more merciful and humane than firearms.

The police department of this city is the smallest known in proportion to the number of inhabitants; and considering the extent of territory covered by our city, the number of arrests made and the other duties performed by the department, it is not equaled in efficiency by any.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

H. H. Ellis,

Chief of Police

The Police Department, in fiscal year 1875-76, did not submit a report on the number of crimes committed but only on the number of arrests made. The only number of crimes mentioned came from the Health Department where they reported 25 homicides for the fiscal year. The Health Dept. also estimated San Francisco's population to be 272,345.

Table showing the number of arrests made in fiscal year, strength of the force, and the proportionate arrest to each officer in the force compared to other cities:

City	No. of Officers	No. of Arrests	Arrest Per Officer
1. London	8,833	72,951	8
2. Dublin	2,085	32,243	16
3. Liverpool	1,018	30,145	30

Either San Francisco Police Department was very efficient or the citizens of San Francisco were very rowdy, most likely it was the latter. Some of the arrests made by the department in fiscal year 1875-76 were as follows:

Assaults-total	2,686	Robbery (Highway)	7
Bigamy	1	Gambling-total	391
Burglary	58	Houses of Ill Fame	512

With all the fighting, drinking, shooting of pistols in the streets and night time carousing, I can see why Coroner Swan stated in his annual report "The year has been remarkable for the increased number of deaths of strangers."

In December of 1875 retiring Mayor Geo. Hewston addressed the Board of Supervisors and made the following comments on crime and the police.

The complaints against the police force, both from the press and the people, have been frequent of late. The number of burglaries and garroting on the public streets would indicate that some modification of the force was required.

We have but 150 policemen on the force as regular officers; and many of these are so employed, either in the city prison or on detective duty, that we have not more than 37 or 40 on patrol duty at one time. Now it is utterly impossible to cover this city, in the populated districts only, with such a force. The great defect is in the limited number of officers, in the length of their beats, and in want of proper discipline. I believe we have as honest and efficient a force, so far as the men are concerned, as any city in the Union. If we had fewer specials and more regular officers it would be greatly to the advantage of the city.

The increase of crime is mainly due to the fact that at this season of the year the desperadoes and thieves of the country resort to the city; and are compelled to resort to this method for a living during the winter months; but few of them continue their depredations for any length of time, as they are sure to fall under the supervision of our efficient detective officers. This is readily proven by the large number of this class now awaiting their trials and confined in the city prison and county jail.

It is much easier to find fault than to improve the circumstances that may appear wrong.

San Francisco has not been a very safe place for this class of men for years; and I believe that it will not be for years to come. We can complain of our officers; but when we come to compare them with other cities, we are satisfied that we have a very good set of officers."

And in his inaugural address Mayor Andrew J. Bryant stated:

"There is no branch of the city government upon which the welfare of the people so much depend as the police department. Charged as it is with the duty of preserving the public peace, it should be administered for the benefit of every citizen. Our police system must not be managed under party influence or for party purposes. Promotion and advancement in and force should not be the result of political influence, but upon personal merit. Appointments on the force ought never to be conferred unless the Commissioners are fully satisfied of the personal fitness of the applicant. Our force numbers 155 men, which is ample to protect the city if they do their duty."

"At the present time we have a large number of first class drinking saloons, and also a very large number that should not exist in any city. There should be some plan adopted that would regulate these places."

"The increase of crime is alarming. Our prisons are crowded, yet there are more complaints of lawlessness than ever before. Punishing petty criminals by long terms of imprisonment seems to punish only the tax-payer with their support. Shorter terms of imprisonment, with severer punishment, while under control are required. Work on the chain-gang, solitary confinement and stricter discipline in the prisons, would, in a great measure, obviate the necessity of increasing our jail accommodations and serve as a better protection to our community, particularly against that class of vagabonds who, unrestrained by any sense of decency, seem to be fast taking possession of our city; and under the name of hoodlums, patrol in large gangs and render our streets unsafe."

Of course, young San Francisco had many problems in those days; gas, water, sewers, schools, etc. But one problem which was a major concern to its citizens then, and is still a major one today, was, streets, sidewalks and obstructions.

"ALL RIGHT... YOU WIN.
I GIVE UP!"

"I would call attention to the incoming Board of Supervisors the numerous obstructions in the streets, occasioned by the vendors of quack medicines knife sharpeners, game tricks, lightning calculators, etc. These have grown so audacious that they defy the police force, and are nightly rendering the streets hideous with shouting, clamorous singing and jest-making. (sounds like Broadway).

"Another of the growing evils is the obstruction of many of the principal streets by horse-railroad authorities. Every Wednesday and Saturday afternoon the entire street-crossings and roadways at Bush & Kearny are obstructed by the N.B. & M. Railroad and Central cars; standing from ten to twenty minutes without moving; ringing their bells for the theater-going population--obstructing both streets for two blocks. They have grown so imprudent in these acts as to defy the police and all other civil authorities." (The Muni Railways has carried on this tradition with great gusto.)

"I trust that the incoming Chief of Police, and other authorities, will stop this infringement of the public rights."

Thus, that's the way it was almost 100 years ago; a city, its people and times.

THE FORGOTTEN MAN SPEAKS!

It grieves me so my dear brothers,
To relate of my sad, sad, plight,
In essence, this picture tells the story,
Far better than the words I can write.

I too, was once a proud, young policeman,
Who once held his head up quite high,
And when I walked my beat, either by day or by night,
Not a single thing slipped me by.

I knew each hoodlum and miscreant
Who upon malevolence was bent,
It didn't take me long to ferret them out,
All those who were on ill-intent.

On many a cold and dreary night,
When on a "stake-out" we were ordered,
To trap a rapist, junkie, a thug or a thief,
We never gave up till he was cornered!

Our lives were quite different from the lives that you live,
But my story's gone too far afield;
And punishment was meted without a word or a qualm,
Unless with good "juice" you were healed.

Retirement ten or fifteen years ago,
When salaries were just about two-hundred,
A "century and ten" went much farther then,
With frugality, life then could be funded.

But now my head's hung low in shame,
Thirty years of devoted service flown,
Social security, welfare nor medicare,
Were just dreams that were in those days unknown.

So we few who are still alive today,
Ask you, our brothers, to search out your conscience,
But for the grace of God, there may go you,
Remember us and show your compassion!

OUR ACHILLES HEEL

By Joe Patterson

God, how we need more men with a feeling for others and a willingness to sacrifice self-interest for the interest of others in our Association, and the Department. We have an over-abundance of self-interest in our Association and Department, both on an individual basis and collectively as groups. The emergent of the Officers for Justice and the Supervisory Officers' Association is self-evident of group selfishness. Each group was formed for self interest. The O.F.J.'s claim that black policemen were being left out of the policy making body of the Department and were not put in any appointive positions available, among other things. Some of these claims, of course, were true. However, I do believe that whatever they intended doing about rectifying that situation could have been better done by working through the Association.

The place where everyone is hurt by this self interest group is on Ballot Propositions. Especially Propositions like "J" in 1971. That was strictly a fringe benefit package that would have helped everyone in the Department equally. Yet the O.F.J.'s opposed it, and their opposition played a key role in its defeat. Which is one of the disasters of collective self-interest.

The other self-interest group, the Supervisory Officers' Association, came into being because of the Memorandum of Understanding. One of its members, a Captain, was heard to say that it "tied their hands". I like to think that it took the yokes from around our necks. However, with the help of our illustrious Police Commission, and their own selfishness, they have conspired to keep the yoke in place despite the Memorandum.

This does not mean that they have defeated us, nor have they destroyed the whole meaning and purpose of the Memorandum. It is a slow and tedious process, but we are removing the screws that holds the yoke together and the yoke will surely fall away. Were it not for their selfishness, they would realize that it is legally and morally right that working Police Officers should have an avenue of redress when we feel that we have been wronged unjustly. That we should have a Policemen's Bill of Rights. That we should have a Grievance Procedure, etc. But in their selfish minds all that they can see is losing the long practiced dictatorial privilege of kicking working

Police Officers around without being questioned.

If only the Department would exercise a little more interest for fellow Police Officers, we would not be losing Police jobs in the Department to civilians. We would not have closed two Police Stations, against the will of the people, just to have to re-open them again, because of the will of the people. We should not have thirty or forty Patrolmen detailed to Investigative Units when there is a current list of Assistant Inspectors waiting for those jobs. The Department would be over at City Hall saying, "I need these positions filled to get the job done or it won't get done." We would not be waiting two years for Re-organization because of petty jealousies and empire building. Instead, our Department should say, "the working policeman deserves something better, and what he asks for is not very much, so let's work to get it to him."

Well my Brothers, you think about it, today self-interest is our Achilles Heel, tomorrow, it could be our demise.

Decriminalization Of Marijuana

Will 1972 see California turned into the "pot" capitol of the World?

"Impossible!" You say. Well, according to the California Marijuana Initiative people, it's not only possible but highly probable.

For instance, currently residing in the halls of Sacramento is Assembly Bill 376, introduced by Assemblyman Waxman, which is termed the "Marijuana Decriminalization Act. The bill will prohibit persons eighteen years old and older from being punished criminally, or denied any right or privilege, because of his "planting, cultivating, harvesting, drying, processing or otherwise preparing, transporting, or possessing marijuana for personal use, or by reason of that use." Interestingly, this bill is backed by State Senator George Moscone and Assemblyman Willie Brown of San Francisco.

Now, in case AB 376 fails, the California Marijuana Initiative is waiting in the wings. Spurred on by capturing 34.6% of the vote in the 1972 state elections, the CMI is quite confident of victory this next time around.

The CMI reads almost identically as Assembly Bill 376, with the additional proviso that it will not effect existing legislation concerning persons under the influence of marijuana from engaging in conduct that endangers others.

According to a fact sheet put out by the Marijuana Initiative, their plan "removes all criminal penalties and civil disabilities for personal possession, use, preparation and cultivation of marijuana which would otherwise be punishable under Health and Safety Code Sections 11357, 11358 and 11360."

Eliminates Profit
CMI goes on to state their initiative does not include the sale of marijuana, possession for sale or cultivation for sale of marijuana, all of which would remain subject to criminal prosecution. It is CMI's contention that sensationalism and profit are the chief cause for abuses of marijuana.

"By allowing personal cultivation while prohibiting sales", CMI says, "you effectively eliminate the profit motive, sensationalism, advertising and other promotional techniques that are the prime causes of drug abuse."

Federal Law
Although, under the Federal Controlled Substances Act, possession of marijuana is a misdemeanor, the states are not required to enact marijuana laws, and California could, for instance, repeal all statutes prohibiting possession and use of marijuana.

Even though the use of marijuana would still be a criminal offense under Federal Law, CMI is confident the Federal Government and the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs are not interested in pursuing marijuana users.

According to CMI's fact sheet, under Federal Law, throughout the entire United States there has been a yearly average of only 512 arrests for marijuana during the past three years. State arrests, by contrast, are in the tens of thousands. CMI feels that the passage of the initiative would reduce by 99% the number of arrests for marijuana.

No Quantity Limitation

If the California Marijuana Initiative passes, quantity of marijuana will not be limited if it is for personal use. According to CMI, "the real issue, after all, is not whether someone possesses an ounce or a pound, but whether he intends to sell it or merely use it. The "Personal Use" distinction authorizes the court to determine what the individual intended." CMI believes the state courts have no difficulty in resolving this issue and will not have any difficulty resolving it once the California Marijuana Initiative passes.

Mandate for Police

In the area of the police and the courts, CMI states "a few opponents have argued that our courts will be flooded splitting hairs between possession and cultivation for sale, which will remain punishable; and possession and cultivation for personal use, which will be decriminalized. But this argument presumes a bad faith enforcement on the part of the police. Passage of our initiative would be a clear mandate for the police and district attorneys to concentrate on major traffickers where intention to sell is clear and there are no hairs to split. Hair splitting is only a problem if the police are intent on arresting border-line penny-ante, seller-users, who are the last and most insignificant link in a long line of illicit transactions. In short, the courts will be forced to waste their time with hair splitting cases only if the police and prosecutors are intent on wasting their time arresting and prosecuting petty user-sellers rather than major traffickers".

Hashish

The California Marijuana Initiative does not either include or exclude hashish from the definition of marijuana. However, the Health and Safety Code does include hashish within the meaning of marijuana. CMI, says "contrary to recent sensationalism, hashish is merely a more concentrated resinous form of marijuana, just as hard liquor is a more concentrated form of alcohol".

Cultivation

The California Marijuana Initiative fact sheet states that personal cultivation is the "key" to their program to protect personal freedom while preventing drug abuse. CMI reasons that present laws against cultivation create the current high market value of marijuana. With eliminating these laws CMI feels cultivation for personal use will result, in a few years, in a drop in price of marijuana to pennies per ounce. CMI claims, "it is the profit motive and sensationalism that promotes drug abuse, not the drugs themselves".

In answer to the problem of the availability to children if personally cultivated, CMI suggests that laws could be enacted similar to the Attractive Nuisance Doctrine, that requires owners of swimming pools to erect high fences to keep children away. They go on to say, "failure to enclose growing marijuana plants could even be made criminally punishable or subject to fines, if such drastic action were deemed necessary". CMI adds that such legislation would have to go on the ballot for voter approval.

Civil Disabilities

The California Marijuana Initiative includes within its provisions a clause specifically eliminating civil disabilities, as well as criminal punishment. Sub-section 2 of the CMI preserve all present legislation, as well as the legislative power to enact future laws, which punishes dangerous conduct performed under the influence of marijuana only to emphasize that people should be subjected to punishment only if they engage in conduct which does or can cause injury to others.

Support

CMI states that their strength and support comes in large part from drug experts and community leaders who agree with the concept of decriminalization. "The wording of our initiative had been positively supported by more than 2,600,000 people. The California Marijuana Initiative enjoys the endorsement of marijuana enthusiasts and ecologists who want it growing free; of libertarians, right and left, who understand the critical importance of rescuing the power to control personal supply."

Among the long list of CMI supporters are these many Bay Area community leaders:

- Judge Harold C. Brown, California Court of Appeals
- Dr. Washington Garner, President, S.F. Police Commission

Drug/Alcohol Bills Pending

May, 1973

U.S. Senator Alan Cranston (D., Calif.) announced that he is supporting legislation for stiffer penalties for dope peddlers and to cut off foreign aid to "pusher nations" that refuse to halt the international drug trade.

Cranston said they are the latest moves in a "seven-pronged Congressional attack" he has helped launch against drug and alcohol abuse in the United States.

"A broad-based approach is essential if we are to wipe out the drug menace that poisons the lives of one Californian in every 400, and the alcohol problem that caused more than 2,500 California highway deaths last year," Cranston said. "There are no snappy one-liners or easy answers to the problem of busting up the $5 billion-a-year U.S. drug racket, or for curbing the one drunk driver out of every 50 motorists who is on the road in any given night."

Cranston, who is chairman of two Senate subcommittees that have been looking into the problems, said he is working for passage of seven different drug and alcohol bills--two that he authored and five he is co-sponsoring--in this session of Congress.

The bills range from U.S. economic sanctions against "pusher nations" like Iran and Pakistan that allow international drug traffic, to tougher penalties for drug dealers and to expanded treatment for addicts and alcoholics.

Cranston was in Concord to confer with home builders, civic and union leaders, and to speak at a testimonial dinner for Assemblyman Dan Boatwright.

"Two years ago there were an estimated 200,000 heroin users in the U.S. Now there are an estimated 560,000," Cranston said. "Perhaps most tragically of all, drug abuse is rampant among our youngest citizens. Drug abuse is a national epidemic that is denying America the rich abilities and talents of many of our people."

"The average junkie spends $8,000 per year to support his habit and often turns to crime for the money," Cranston continued. "That is why police in some parts of the country say that as many as seven out of ten crimes are drug-related."

Cranston is co-sponsor with Senator Harold Hughes (D., Iowa) of two drug measures that are already law--the Comprehensive Drug Abuse Prevention and Control Act of 1970 that provides for community-based treatment and rehabilitation for addicts and the Drug Abuse Office and Treatment Act of 1972 that established a special federal office to develop programs for drug abuse prevention.

The seven bills Cranston is working on include:

- The Federal Narcotic Drug Trafficking Offenses and Sentencing Act (S. 1137) that Cranston has co-sponsored with a fellow Labor Committee member, Senator Jacob Javits (R., N.Y.). The bill provides stiffer federal penalties for drug pushers ranging from mandatory five-year sentences for first-time offenders to life imprisonment for second offenders dealing in more than 10 ounces--a $30,000 case or more.

Cranston stressed that the measure is designed to drive pushers out of business, especially "the big pusher who is often more successful in eluding prosecution."

- Legislation being drafted by Senator Vance Hartke (D., Ind.) that would shut off

U.S. foreign aid to countries that have to date refused to cooperate in efforts to stop illicit international drug traffic. In 1972, the U.S. taxpayers gave $685.7 million in foreign aid to the six nations targeted by the bill, Cranston said.

Iran, one of the six nations, produced 150 metric tons of raw opium in 1971 that can be converted to heroin worth $3.3 billion at New York prices if all of it found its way into the needles of U.S. junkies. The other nations include Afghanistan, 100 metric tons in 1971; Pakistan, 20-160 tons; and Burma, Thailand and Laos, 700 tons.

Cranston noted that the bill does not mention South Vietnam where 29 tons were produced in 1971 (opium is outlawed in North Vietnam). Cranston said he is considering an amendment to the Hartke measure that would cut off aid to South Vietnam as well if drug trafficking continues.

"The capabilities of our laws and our federal drug enforcement agencies to reduce supply and to operate most effectively in halting drug supplies must be increased," Cranston said. "We must provide law enforcement officials with the tools and the funding to accomplish the task of getting the 'supply' and the 'supplier' off our streets and into custody."

"The effectiveness of harsh penalties as a deterrent depend greatly on how effective the enforcement agencies are, but we must investigate and carefully consider every avenue of increasing the potential for strong enforcement," Cranston said.

- Legislation co-sponsored with Senator Hughes to extend for three years the Comprehensive Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism Prevention, Treatment and Rehabilitation Act (S. 1125). Cranston said the bill would expand federal efforts to treat the over nine million alcoholics in the country--only a small fraction of whom are being helped now.

- The Veterans Alcohol and Drug Treatment Rehabilitation Act (S. 284) that Cranston authored and President Nixon pocket vetoed late last year. The Senate passed it again 87-2 last month and it is now awaiting House action. Cranston is chairman of the Veterans Subcommittee on Health and Hospitals.

The bill would give the Veterans Administration its first broad-range program for treating and rehabilitating addicted veterans. And for the first time, the VA would be permitted to treat veteran addicts who received less than honorable discharges. "This is aimed at treating the hard-core drug user who often turns to crime to support his habit," Cranston said.

- The Domestic Volunteer Service Act (S. 1148) that Cranston authored as chairman of the Senate Labor Subcommittee on Human Resources. The bill would establish under the ACTION agency a program of community-based drug counseling by volunteers and recovered addicts. Cranston said the bill should be on the Senate floor early in May.

- Legislation co-sponsored with Senator Birch Bayh (D., Ind.) (S. 983) designed to control domestically produced drugs that 14 million Americans use improperly each year--the amphetamines, barbiturates and other "medicine cabinet" drugs.

Officials estimated that in 1969, the nation's drug industry produced four billion units more than the legitimate need, Cranston said.

Cranston said the bill would require manufacturers to stamp the source and content of the drug on the capsules or pills. That would be done by a coding system, Cranston said, to enable police to identify the source of the drugs when they are confiscated, and to enable hospital workers to treat drug overdose cases rapidly without taking time to analyze the content of pills.

- A measure co-sponsored with Senator Bayh (S. 984) to apply stricter controls on the production and distribution of four barbiturates commonly used by addicts: Seconal or "reds", Nembutal or "yellow jackets", Amytal or "blue jackets" and Tuinal or "rain-bows".

"This legislation will help give a coordinated, federal response to the supply and to the demand side of the problem," Cranston concluded. "There are presently more than 13 different drug abuse enforcement programs in nine different federal agencies."

Eagle's Lodge Honors Police

Two Police Officers from Mission Station, Dennis Kamilatos and Dave Zinardi, were honored by the Missionite Fraternal Order of Eagles #3462 at a Spaghetti

Feed on the 24th of April at Dovre Hall.

They were selected by Captain Creedon of Mission Station for outstanding police work. Each officer received a plaque with the inscription, "Meritorious Service" as well as a scroll from the Grand Aerie Eagles.

This is the first of an annual event with Mission Station along with other events with Law Enforcement agencies.

At the presentation Jack Torrensa, Chairman of the Eagles Order, made the following remarks:

"Tonight marks the first Law Enforcement Program to be presented by Missionite

Eagles #3462, because we believe we should be concerned about crime in our community and willing to help those who risk their lives every day in the war against crime.

"I can tell you that never before in our history have we needed the respect and support of the public as we do today. Well organized, well financed forces are gravely endangering our society: people are afraid to walk the streets at night; our children fall prey to dope peddlers; our policemen are cursed, stoned, kicked and killed, over 43,000 assaults against them recorded in just one 12-month period, and Jerry Shasky has been with the Berkeley Police Department for four years. He now wants to leave.

"I feel no loyalty to the City of Berkeley; only to the people I'm working with, but not to the city anymore," admitted the 25 year old Senior Patrolman. "I used to feel loyalty towards the people in the hills, but since they haven't come out and supported us..."

Since the Radicals were elected to the City Council, the men of the Berkeley Police Department have felt the hostility both direct and indirect.

"When they (the radicals) won the first election we lost about 50 people that year," Shasky paused to eye a couple of weirdo-freaky-wino types seated on the sidewalk as they shielded their bottle and put on wide-eyed innocent looks for the passing patrol car. "Those guys that quit, that was what was happening."

In the recent city election, three anti-police measures were passed by Berkeley voters. One establishes a Police Review Commission which is supposed to investigate complaints against policemen and "to provide community participation in setting and reviewing Police Department policies, practices, and procedures." Another, cancels all pacts and agreements with other agencies and departments pending review by the Berkeley City Council, and the third prohibits Berkeley Police Officers from making arrests for use, possession or cultivation of marijuana without specific approval from the City Council. That means, City Council approval for each and every arrest.

Shasky answered a Family 418 call and after talking with a spaced out who claimed to have been struck by "a dude" she knew, and after being told to remove his hat (which he did) to show "some respect" got together with another Berkeley cop for a corner breeze-shoot. They talked about the times.

"If this is what they (the Berkeley Citizens) want," shrugged a tall southern speaking officer, "we can always leave."

"And that's what everyone is doing," laughed Shasky with a glance downward.

Back on patrol, Shasky continued. "A lot of cops felt what the hell - if they pass the initiatives, I'll just get another job - everyone is trying to leave. They've just given up hope."

Shasky makes $1,176.00 a month and recently married an Alameda school teacher.

While driving slowly around one of the three high schools on his beat, he tensed up. "This is the worst god-damn high school I've ever seen - and I was born and raised in San Francisco." A group of kids shooting craps casually looked up from their game for a cool second as the patrol car passed. "This school should be a beat in itself. We've got everything here: rapes, riots, assaults. These kids have no respect at all. You ask them something and they tell you to get fucked."

Officer Shasky answers a "418" call.

Shasky fingered his wide mustache and shook his head.

How do you handle marijuana arrests now?

"Nobody really knows what to do. I tell you, if someone came up to me smoking, I'd probably arrest him - and get fired because the Chief would have to take disciplinary action if the Council wanted."

As he drove by a group of freaks on Telegraph one of them spotted the camera and shouted, "Look, they're taking pictures!" A People's Hero, Shasky flashed him one of his quick-draw smiles and drawled, "Yeah, faaaaaar ooooouuuuut." The freak, his paranoia slipping, had to smile back.

Are there any cops on the force who support the radicals?

Shasky frowned, "I don't think so. I've talked with some of the new Blacks and well, some guys will come extremely liberal but they slowly, but surely, change their feelings. They see what it's like to be out in uniform."

Shasky pointed out a red haired kid standing on the sidewalk with the largest Afro in captivity. "See him? We got him for firebombing a while back." Shasky waved. "Hey Tommy, you keeping straight?" The Afro kid smiled nervously, afraid Shasky would stop.

"The philosophy around here," Shasky explained quietly as he drove, "is to do as little as possible. Only do what you have to do." He spoke slowly, "I don't originate anything anymore. I just don't go out and look for things like I used to."

A call came in to pick up a shoplifter in a small downtown department store. He 10/4rd and responded. It was a tall, messy fifteen year old girl who had tried to make off with a ten dollar jacket. She greeted Shasky with a mile-wide "isn't this whole thing-silly?" grin. He shot back a no-sympathy deadpan, and it went on like that until the girl broke down into sobs and tears. Then Shasky softened into his usual professional friendliness.

Back on the street.

Why did you join the B.P.D.?

"At the time I was going to City College of San Francisco, in Criminology. One of the instructors said Berkeley was the place to go - the place to learn. Where you do your own follow-ups. I came over and a guy talked me into joining." Shasky stopped his car to speak to a dude who had stopped in the middle of the street and stuck his head out his car window. "Do you have a pen I could borrow for a minute?" asked the dude slowly. "I have to write down an address real quick." Shasky handed him his pen and continued.

"You know, the guy who talked me into joining, my training officer, he quit." Shasky smiled and took back his pen. "Yeah, he quit," he said again with a shake of his head.

The B.P.D. now has an authorized strength of 193 officers, cut 22 from their pre-radical strength of 215. Fifty percent of the force now has less than two years and 70 percent, less than five years.

What's going to happen to the Department?

"I don't know. The Berkeley Police Department will always be here - they can't run us out of town. But the quality of the men is going down. The City Personnel Office is doing the hiring now, not the P.D. I've worked with some of these new Affirmative Action Cops and I don't trust them."

What about the Department staff?

"We usually don't know what they think. The staff is very distant from the patrolmen."

Pulling up in front of the

"I feel no loyalty," comments Berkeley Policeman, Jerry Shasky.

SOA AND THE BUREAU

By Paul Chignell

The Supervisory Officers' Association has embarked on another flight to absurdity. In the latest charade, the Super Brass are pondering the inclusion of the Bureau of Inspectors as members of their organization.

The steering committee of the SOA has approved the proposal and the rumor is the entire membership will be allowed to vote on the issue.

The SOA is seemingly abrogating the very principles upon which it initially founded its organization. The SOA was intended to serve as management's voice; but this principle has been subverted. The inclusion of the Bureau of Inspectors is a step toward isolation and division.

This is an obvious attempt to divide and desolate the POA; to build a power base amongst the Department's elite.

Members of the Bureau of Inspectors should be wary of this fledgling group of administrators who have not stood up for the rights of policemen since their inception.

The SOA did not bother to appear before the Civil Service Commission to fight the loss of the airport. The SOA did not bother to meet with the Mayor to restore budget cuts in new supervisors positions and new assistant inspectors. The SOA has not even bothered to file suit in light of the OFJ's suit charging minority discrimination. The SOA does not provide legal representation before Internal Affairs. The SOA does not provide low cost insurance. But, the SOA does attempt to emasculate the Memorandum of understanding. The SOA does sit still when the Administration errs in matters of working conditions and personnel practices.

Isn't it strange indeed certain advocates scream for unity in our Association and then turn around and attempt to dissolve that unity into ineffectual associations for their own unscrupulous political ends.

RETIREMENT FACTS

I have had several inquiries from members of the Fire and Police Depts. regarding the benefits available to the minor children (under 18) of those employees who at the date of death have no surviving wife. I contacted Edmond Walsh, Chief Actuary, of the Retirement System and he supplied me with the following facts.

If a death as outlined above occurs as a result of injury received in line of duty or as a result of death from illness arising out of the performance of duty, and if the deceased was an active fireman or policeman who had not yet qualified for Service Retirement, then the benefit payable would be equal to 100% of the member's salary at date of death, and would be paid to a child or surviving children under 18 years of age.

An alternate benefit would also be available and this benefit would be the regular single payment equal to six months salary plus the member's total of accumulated contributions. Normally the monthly allowance mentioned earlier in this paragraph would be the preferred benefit but it is possible that if only one child survives under 18 years of age, and said child might only be 17 1/2 years of age, then the monthly allowance would be payable only for six months and therefore the alternate benefit might become more desirable.

In the event of death in line of duty, but after qualification for Service Retirement, the monthly allowance would become payable to a child or children under 18, and said monthly allowance would be equal to the full value of the pension which the member would have been eligible to receive if he had actually retired prior to his death. As in the example given in the first paragraph, the alternate benefit, by means of a single payment, would again be available, and might possibly be chosen if the child or children are very close to age 18.

If it should happen that the death would occur not as the result of performance of duty, and before the member had qualified for Service Retirement, then the only benefit available to a child or children under 18, assuming the child or children have been designated as beneficiary, would be the regular death benefit payable in a single lump sum and equal to the total of six months earnable salary plus the total of accumulated contributions.

If the death is non-industrial and occurs after qualification for Service Retirement, then the surviving children under 18 would be eligible to receive a monthly allowance equal to three-fourths of the value of the pension which would have been payable if the member had retired prior to date of death. Once again, the alternate benefit in a single payment, six months salary plus accumulated contributions, would again be available.

If a member's death should occur, and his only survivors would be children over 18, then the death benefit would become payable to whomever has been designated as the member's beneficiary and the payment would be equal to six months salary plus the contribution account total.

The above explanation is covered completely in Section 168.1.4 and Section 168.1.5 for firemen. We refer you to these sections of the City Charter for more detailed information. Or even better, in the case of a fireman contact Elmer Ballard of Firefighters Local #798 and members of the Police Dept. should contact Capt. J. WM. Conroy, Legal Representative of the San Francisco Police Officers' Association.

I'm sure that there are numerous miscellaneous employees, who have children under 18, with no surviving wife who are also interested in the benefits available to them and their children so I will cover this topic in my next column.

A Tale Of Two Standards

by J.W. Greco

"It was the best of times; it was the worst of times. It was the Age of Reason; it was the Age of Irrationality. . . ." This loose quotation from Dickens's A Tale of Two Cities seems to apply to our Department today.

Some of our Brother Officers seem to feel they have an instant solution to what they feel is a matter of racial discrimination. Because there are no black lieutenants, there are no black candidates for the announced Captains examination. They feel that this is racial discrimination. Their solution is twofold. First, change the exam. Second, establish two eligibility lists -- one for "minorities" and one for "whites."

Changing the present memorization-type test to include more supervision and intelligence questions is a move many of us would welcome. But this kind of solution is best presented after being carefully thought through rather than by making an emotional and history-based plea to the courts at the eleventh hour. In addition the argument to negate all accomplished and proposed promotions from the current lieutenants and sergeants list does not stand the test of reason.

The double list argument speaks for itself. It is an argument based on race and has no legitimate place in our Department, indeed, in our Country, where racial discrimination is outlawed.

If there are Brother Officers in this Department who are racists, they would be well advised to know that the vast majority of police officers will not tolerate this kind of behavior. We are all sworn to uphold the law and the law in our Country has long since denied the legitimacy of all racism, regardless of color. The POA has made itself clear: it is against racism and it is against the concept of two eligibility lists based on race. As a member of this Department and as a member of the POA, I would welcome statements from the members of other associations within our Department that they, too, are against racism. Let us wait and see who, if anyone, is willing to take a public stand against the irrational and illegal position of police promotions based on race.

POLICE ACTIVITIES LEAGUE

As Summer nears, the PAL is now finishing its final preparations for providing a fun-packed and busy summer for thousands of boys and girls throughout the City. The many weeks of paperwork, scheduling, meetings and clinics will come to culmination and fruition when the coaches and athletes will start the summer competitions. Baseball, track & field, girls' softball, boxing and judo will be in full stride. Soccer will be just ending, but preparations for football, Law Enforcement and basketball will just be beginning. The cycle never ceases, but let's take a good look at what is in store for the summer months.

BASEBALL:

2,500 boys from all parts of San Francisco will be competing on the local diamonds all summer long. PAL can provide a summer of baseball for boys eight to eighteen years of age. The leagues are divided into four age divisions: Pee-Wee, Bantam, Cal-Pal, and DiMaggio.

Pee-Wee baseball is geared for boys eight to ten years of age who are just learning the basics of baseball. It is low pressure. The coach does the pitching, and emphasis is on safety. Every team must allow all the boys to play and have at least one at-bat.

Bantam baseball is designed for boys eleven and twelve years of age. The boys do the pitching, and various rules are added to limit the number of innings a boy can pitch. Again, this is also an instructional league, but the boys are playing on their own and applying the principles they learned as a Pee-Wee player.

The Cal-Pal Division is for boys thirteen to fifteen years of age, and the league is divided into twenty geographical locations. Boys are simply invited to try out for the team in their neighborhood. There is good competition in this league, since the boys are much better and stronger. At this age the boys have a real opportunity to develop into a fine ball player.

The Joe DiMaggio League is the PAL's final step in developing the young player into a finished ball player. This is where all those years of practice pays off. The DiMaggio League is made up of boys sixteen to eighteen years of age, and it is divided into ten geographical areas to cover the City. League play goes on until August, when the winners from San Francisco go on to the regional and state finals. Many of the boys who started in the PAL as Pee-Wees have made it to the DiMaggio League Regional and State Finals. We urge you to get your boy involved in baseball as young as possible.

GIRLS' SOFTBALL:

The GAL-PAL Softball League will begin its second year this summer. Girls twelve to fourteen years of age will be engaged in an active summer. The PAL realized that hitting a ball could be just as much fun for the girls as for the boys. Since this league is new to the PAL, we are doing all we can to encourage young ladies to "steal" bases and carry clubs! Interested girls' groups are asked to contact PAL as soon as possible. All the equipment and insurance is provided - all you need is a coach and enough interested girls.

TRACK AND FIELD:

The PAL is currently sponsoring an all-year-round track and field team for boys and girls eight to seventeen years of age. Practices will be scheduled throughout May. Interested persons should contact PAL.

All the boys and girls in San Francisco in the age groups 8 through 17 years are invited to participate in the Jr.

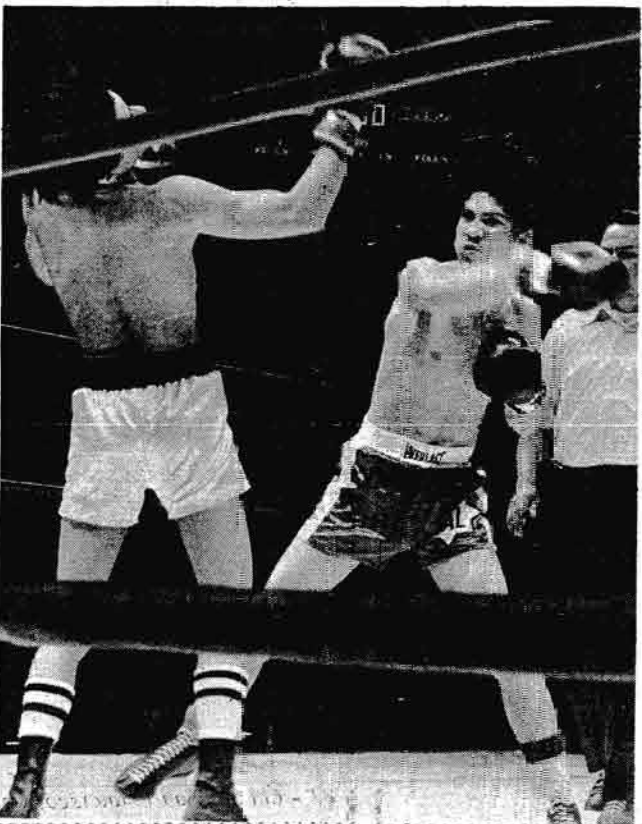

Olympic Track and Field Trials on June 9th (boys) and June 10th (girls). Application forms will be forwarded to all the schools in the City.

All-Comers track and field events will be scheduled for the coming months. Boys and girls have benefited from the instruction received in the PAL track & field program from local high school coaches, which has encouraged them in their efforts in becoming track and field aspirants.

BOXING:

Five members of the PAL boxing team made it to the A.A.U. Junior Olympic Boxing finals held in San Jose. Participants were those who survived the regional elimination tournaments held throughout Northern California and Nevada. Of the five PAL finalists, eleven-year-old Rodrick Brooks captured the 70-75 lbs. title. Rodrick is just one of the hundreds of boys that Asst. Inspector Earl Gonsolin has coached over the last 14 years. The PAL Boxing Center will be open all summer long, Monday through Friday, 12:00 Noon to 8:00 PM. The location is the National Guard Armory at 14th & Mission Streets.

JUDO:

Youngsters eight to seventeen years are also invited to take part in the PAL Judo Program, instructed by Officer Joe Mollo at the Police Gym on Saturdays, 11:30-12:30 PM. The location is the Hall of Justice, 850 Bryant Street. Coach Mollo periodically enters his youngsters in the Jr. Judo Tournaments in the Bay Area, and has coached many champions.

SOCCER:

PAL Soccer is now in full swing, with approximately 800 boys playing on fifty-four teams. The soccer leagues are divided into six divisions: Under 18, Under 16, Under 14, Under 12, Under 10 and Under 8. The leagues started April 7th, and will continue through June 30th. There is still time if any youngster still wishes to join a PAL soccer team. Games are played each Saturday at Crocker-Amaron Playground and Balboa Soccer Stadium.

LAW ENFORCEMENT:

Mr. Larry Lawson, Criminology Instructor at City College of San Francisco, will be guest speaker when 40 young men and women will graduate from the PAL Law Enforcement program on May 29th, 7:00 PM at the Hall of Justice. These young men and women have been trained in many phases of law enforcement. The main objective is to acquaint these persons with the duties and services of their local police department and other law-related fields, such as probation, parole and social work, in the hopes that these young people will eventually choose a career in law enforcement. The PAL is proud to announce that six of its former PAL Law Enforcement graduates have entered the San Francisco Police Department, and five additional PAL graduates are in the present 124th Police Recruit Class.

FOOTBALL:

As autumn necessarily follows summer, can football be far behind? Officer Terry Sullivan, our Football Commissioner, has scheduled coaches' meetings in preparation for the first kickoff in September. The PAL sponsors 12 teams in three divisions: Junior Bantam, Midget and Senior Pee-Wee. The Junior Bantam League is designed for boys thirteen and fourteen years of age, with weights of 100-140 lbs. The Midget League is for boys ten to thirteen years of age, with weights of 90 to 125 lbs. The Pee Wee League is for boys 10, 11 and 12, who weigh 70-105 lbs. The boys are involved in home and away games, and they are under top-notch supervision. PAL Youth Football sign-ups will take place at various neighborhood locations on Saturday, August 4th. Information will be available at PAL. Young football players in San Francisco need the proper direction today in order to develop into high school and collegiate players of tomorrow. You can help by becoming a volunteer coach and imparting your past experience and knowledge. There is nothing more rewarding than helping a youngster! If you are interested, please drop a note to Officer Terry Sullivan, PAL, 2475 Greenwich St., SF 94123.

JR. CHAMPS:

PAL and KRON-TV sponsored the San Francisco Junior Champs program this past month. Boys and girls in two divisions (10-11-12) and (13-14) participated in track and sport events to represent San Francisco in the finals against other cities. The finals will be televised on May 5th, 12th, June 30th and July 7th. Be looking for PAL entrants in the finals. The PAL commends KRON (Channel 4) for fostering youth athletic programs.

Keep in mind that the big KSFO-VIP All-Star Game is coming up on Thursday, June 21st, 6:30 PM at the Cow Palace.

The PAL will be in for a busy summer. The more youngsters that call us, the more coaches we need. It is very difficult to answer the phone and have to tell a youngster that he cannot play because there are no more teams or coaches. If you would like to coach, call or write: PAL, 2475 Greenwich St., SF 94123 (553-1158).
